Natalie Schernitzki

Natalie is a litigator with over 15 years of experience working with her clients to resolve disputes.

In practice, she specializes in two distinct areas of law:

Commercial Litigation, which involves advising companies on various business issues such as breach of contract, shareholder disputes, real estate and leasing disputes, franchise disputes, and collections; and

Estate Litigation, Administration & Planning, which primarily involves litigating estate matters such as guardianship applications, will challenges, dependant support claims, passings of accounts and other disputes arising out of the administration of estates and trusts, assisting clients in all aspects of estate administration and also assisting clients with estate planning such as preparing Wills, Powers of Attorney and establishing trusts for various purposes.

Natalie has successfully represented a broad range of clients before numerous courts, boards and tribunals including the Court of Appeal for Ontario, the Ontario Superior Court of Justice, the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario, the Canada Industrial Relations Board and the Consent and Capacity Board.

As an advocate, Natalie's key objective is to present her clients' position in the most compelling manner possible. To facilitate this, she first determines the client's business or other goals. She then prepares thoroughly, developing a theory of the case that she uses persuasively throughout the proceedings, resulting in practical and cost effective outcomes for her clients.

Outside of her practice, Natalie enjoys travelling, reading and the creative process of do-it-yourself home projects.
